

The continued suppression of Mrs. K's description of her husband's wounds is made possible by the dead hand on the control, that of the nonexistent commission. What Man, whose incompetence is equalled only by his contempt for fact and reality, could be trusted with, anyone could. His access to it establishes a precedent. It is clear the real purpose is to deny access to the testimony of the only close eyewitness in the world, whatever the excuse given.